Thank you. We understand the subpoena isn't withdrawn, but that the parties agree to take any deposition off calendar for now. Insofar as the subpoena isn't withdrawn, Valve maintains its objections, which we can talk further about later this year if Apple wants to get a deposition date back on calendar.

Enjoy the rest of your summer as well.

Many thanks,
Gavin

Gavin,

Thank you again for the call this afternoon and your email below. I would characterize our position slightly differently than you have stated below. Apple is agreeing to defer the time for Valve to comply with the 30(b)(6) deposition notice until a mutually agreeable time early this fall. I will reach out to you next month so that we can continue our productive discussions concerning the scope of the subpoena. Although there is no immediate need for Valve to comply with the subpoena, we still do expect that Valve will comply with the subpoena and provide testimony on the topics at a later date.

We look forward to speaking with you again in a few weeks and, in the meantime, I hope you enjoy the rest of your summer.

Thanks,

Nicole

Nicole –

This email is to formally confirm our discussion and agreement this afternoon that Apple is not going forward at this time with the 30(b)(6) deposition of Valve noticed in the attached subpoena. We understand that Apple may later seek a 30(b)(6) deposition of Valve on these or other topics, and can discuss those when/if that happens. Meanwhile, we understand Valve is relieved of any duty to comply with the attached subpoena or to appear for a deposition.

I appreciate your consideration and Apple's courtesy, and will pass it along to Valve.

Many thanks,
Gavin

Gavin,

As discussed, attached is a courtesy copy of a deposition subpoena to Valve. We are in the process of formally serving it but please let us know if you will accept service. We have tentatively set the date for July 26. Please let us know when you are available to meet and confer on the date and delineated topics.

Thank you,

Nicole
